Google controls our lives. We live by their rules or die... Also I can show more pride in my work and can be completely honest with people.

When I sold backlinks in the past, I would always feel bad, because I knew that the links weren't really worth that much... But they paid me $10 or something, so they didn't lose out on much either.

Either way, I wish that I did white-hat seo much sooner. Tell your stories.
